

We are little but quite spread
We could take many forms:
Solidity, fluidity or transparency, reacting to any outer situation
We leave traces, minor at times and major at other times
We delve into your senses and we quench your thirst
We are a necessity, for you can not survive without us
We are a need for the spirit and the imagination too,
Our moves can be unbelievably swift & fluid
And our room temperature is the most enjoyable
We are light and flexible, yet we could be sharp
We are tasteless, odorless but we are never unseen
You have to focus to notice the beauty of our simplicity
Oh! And we do have our own way and technicality...
Now you must know who we are
We are H2O
