JEWELRY ART

It is that pure mineral, naturally crystallized, offered by mother nature for magical purposes and creations..

It is that precious piece, named as the purest and most beautiful gemstone since long before the beginning of recorded history.

It is that Diamond, which has captivated hearts and sights since.

No wonder why it was looked-at highly, and treated delicately- to be crowned as a fine jewel, worn since the early times by kings and queens ... and yet till the day, by women and men with soul and attitude of a king and a queen.

Then erupts another exquisite element from earth, It is that solid and attractive, highly sought-after precious metal, It sparkles by its magically natural royal color.

It is that Gold, destined to bond with that crystallized oval- the diamond creating a unique masterpiece, every time they unite.

That is how jewel creation happened, conceived by a jeweler with a taste, yet more than that: a vision.

For what is art without a vision, and what is substance without a story...
Jewels are pieces conceived in thoughts before they reach to be handcrafted.

Sometimes they're shapes, some other times shadows, but every time, every piece tells a story...

The story is dreamt of, then sketched beyond no boundary, the drive is a vision, and a passion.

And after the story is paper sketched, comes the artist's handcraft ability to transform what arose as a wild vision- into fine shape, special, delicate, it simply speaks to the heart.

What links the fantasy to the final outcome is an adventure of the senses, but where would senses carry us if not driven with an act?

Wassim Houchaimy understood this relationship with the fine pieces, this lead him to becoming today the engine behind jewels conceptualization and making.

His Beirut-based workshop is equipped with latest 3d drawing equipment, whereby the paper sketch is transformed into a virtual form, and later shaped into a concrete material through a high-end laser machine; the latter permits a clean and sharp outline, giving each piece the substance it is worthy of.

Wassim Houchaimy has always been fond of creating, creation sparkles in his head first, like a jewel, to become a fine jewel.

The high end technology he acquires, as well as his rich journey of experience and know-how, place him today as a model role in the “art of creating”.
